FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 24, 1901.

BIG FINE TO PAY -State Game Pre. tector John E. Overton went to tho Arctic Fre-zing Company's storage house in New York, yesterday, and claims he found 2,000 partridges, quail, claims he found 2,000 partridges, quali-grouse and other game birds, the shooting or possession of which in the state out of season is punishable by a fine of $60 for the first bird killed or held in possession and $25 for the second or each other bird killed or held to possession. The resident of the in possession. The president of the in possession. The president of the storage company went to the police court with Mr. Overton, where an agreement was made not to search the rooms in the place until today. Mr. Overton and a policeman watched the place all day yesterday and examined every package going out. The president of the company is reported to have said that he did not own a single bird in the place, and that he did not know in the place, and that he did not know what was in the storage rooms.

Assistant district attorney Walsh said that it looked as if there would be a huge fine to be paid. He said the law clearly states that the possession of game birds out of season is a misde-meanor, punishable by a fine, and if the birds were such as to make the com-pany liable the fines would run up to
